THE MAYOR OF NEW YORK

GEORGE B. MCCLELLAN.

BRITISH BARK WENT ASHORE

DON GOT TOO CLOSE IN SHORE YESTERDAY AND HAD TO BE DRAGGED OFF BY FEARLESS.

The British bark Don went ashore on the reef off the Waikiki residence of Col. Sam Parker yesterday morning and was aground for an hour being finally pulled into deep water by the tug Fearless.

The vessel, 61 days from Iquiqui, rounded Diamond Head shortly before 11 o'clock under reefed topsails, foresail and jib set. There was a fair trade wind prevailing and she went along at a fair clip. As she rounded the point it was seen by those on the beach that she was bearing dangerously in shore. A few hundred yards and she suddenly came to a stop less than a quarter of a mile from shore. She was stuck midships, her bow evidently having slid over the projections of reef.

Captain Jaffray the master of the vessel attempted a splendid piece of seamanship. He set the spanker sail all the sails on the fore and main mast except the royals and hauled the fore and main yards around so as to catch the slant of the trade wind and work the vessel off the reef.

There seldom comes the opportunity of seeing a vessel sail backwards but the watchers ashore thought they would witness that interesting occurrence. But they were doomed to disappointment. Had the vessel been ashore at the bow, with the trade prevailing she could probably have slipped into deep water but in four fathoms midships, she was stuck too tight. She slewed around until from broadside to the land, her stern was pointing out to sea. There was a swell running and the vessel balanced on the reef with the rise and fall of the water, causing at first the impression that she was riding free. But a few minutes showed that she was not to be budged. As long as the wind was blowing from the northeast and the tide was setting in the position of the vessel was not especially dangerous. There was not a heavy swell running and she was not pounding very hard on the reef.

The tug Fearless soon went out to the vessel and after some negotiations, put a hawser on to the Don and dragged her into deep water after about half an hour's work. Captain Jaffray stated that he had never visited Honolulu before and was under the impression that there was deep water close to Diamond Head. The lookout man on the vessel should readily have seen that the vessel was dangerously close to shore for the light green color of shoal water was plainly apparent. But the Don was not the first vessel to pile up on that part of the Oahu Coast. Years ago the Eskbank went ashore about a quarter of a mile Ewa of the point that the Don touched and about five years ago the bark Dunregan got ashore, less than a mile in the other direction from the Don. Of the two however only the Eskbank was lost. The Don got ashore simply through a mistake on the part of the navigator. The day was perfectly clear and the wind was off shore.

The Don was out 61 days from Iquiqui with a partial cargo of nitrates for H. Sackfeld and Company. She had 1,400 tons for Honolulu consignees and 450 tons for Victoria.

The vessel was towed to the railway wharf by the Fearless.

THAT SUIT BROUGHT AGAINST DR. M'GREW

STATEMENT BY THE HUSBAND OF THE PLAINTIFF AS TO WHAT HAPPENED AT PEARL HARBOR.

EDITOR STAR: The Advertiser of yesterday, without making any effort to ascertain the facts in the case, as they might be related by either Mrs. Roe or myself, published a wholly false account, of the circumstances leading up to the institution of the suit by my wife against Dr. McGrew, for an assault committed by him against her, with a deadly weapon on the 12th instant.

The Advertiser states that, "on the night of the 12th, mentioned in Mrs. Roe's complaint, Dr. McGrew heard voices on the water in front of his place and suspecting trespassers went out with a pistol and fired some shots in the air." The "incredible cause of action" and "The strident phraseology" of Mrs. Roe's attorney are also referred to by the paper mentioned. The entire article smacks of biased and strenuous advocacy in the Doctor's defense, and was written with the evident intention of letting "one of the most honored citizens of Honolulu," down easy, and of building up an artificial public sentiment in his favor, with the hope that that clamorous and powerful agency might operate upon the minds of the jury, and so prevent a fair and impartial trial of the case upon the law and the evidence; or, perhaps the article was written in pursuance of that general policy, to which some people habituate themselves, of making a defense of anyone in the charged and select circle or high society against any suit or complaint, however just, brought by one occupying a humble station in life. In either event, it's course is discreditable and deserves the censure of all fair minded men. I have no desire to try my wife's case in the newspapers, it being our intention to call the doctor to account before a jury in a court whose judgment will command respect. Under these conditions the doctor will enjoy every opportunity to explain his "incredible" conduct, as it is charged in the complaint, now of record in the circuit court, and where "the strident phraseology" of Mrs. Roe's attorney, may be appropriately objected to. I am inclined to think, however (and wishing to be fair I state it) that the doctor's conduct on the occasion in question, would appear to be "incredible," to those who have no knowledge of the facts of the case; but when we stop to consider that hardly a day passes in which some grave wrong is not committed by a hitherto good citizen, enjoying the respect and confidence of his fellows, the folly of kicking a case out of court, in advance of a trial, merely because it seems to be "incredible," becomes apparent.
